Julie Holt, RN, MSN, CPNP: "Through my career as a pediatric nurse practitioner and nursing professor, I am committed to student success, clinical decision-making and training new faculty. Creative approaches to engage students for kinetic learning is a priority as I have educated associate degree nursing students for over 20 years in an excellent nursing program at Sacramento City College. I have held leadership positions as an assistant director, faculty mentor and a coordinator for the student tutoring center. I have taught in a hybrid course for over 10 years which included online testing, use of multiple learning management systems and multiple professional development courses for online teaching modalities. In my role as a Regional Director for Employer Engagement for Health for the Greater Sacramento Region, I have had the opportunity to provide professional development to faculty, incumbent worker training for industry partners and high school pipeline preparation. My specific projects have been for regional specialty RN training, faculty support, mental health pathway development and alignment through multiple regional advisory committees."

Laurie Green, MPH: Laurie Green is the EMT Program Director for Crafton Hills College. Professor Green is a statewide and county representative for Emergency Services and has been a leader in innovative online education modalities. Her expertise in online instruction and her career as a firefighter/paramedic for Cal Fire.
